

Virtual Events Made Easy

Your session. Our platform. No worries.

With face-to-face meetings off the table, virtual training sessions have become a go-to tool for manufacturers and marketers around the country. But hosting an effective, meaningful online event requires more than just a user name and a webcam. Why not lean on a partner with experience in virtual events and industry know-how to do the heavy lifting?

Introducing WWD Lunch & Learn

Scranton Gillette Communications, the parent company of Water and Wastes Digest, has been hosting interactive digital events and educational programs for more than seven years. And now we're offering that same top-notch experience to our customers who need to host presentations or product demonstrations for target audiences.

Virtual Lunch & Learn sessions are capped at 100 registrations allowing marketing professionals or sales team members to connect with potential customers in a more intimate setting than a traditional webinar. The Lunch & Learn session length of 40 minutes including Q&A makes it ideal for lunch breaks.

It's simple and easy because we take care of the work behind the scenes – before, during and after your event.

How does it work?

- 1. Identify the audience segment you would like to target
- 2. Establish an event date (at least 3 weeks in advance to allow for 2 full weeks of promotion)
- 3. WWD creates a registration page, including unique qualifier questions
- 4. WWD promotes your virtual Lunch & Learn session to our first-party verified audiences through multiple platforms
- 5. WWD processes and verifies registrations
- 6. WWD sets up a "Lunch & Learn Zoom Room"
- 7. Conduct a pre-meeting checklist to verify presentation, test technology, practice and review registration list
- 8. WWD launches the meeting, introduces the presenter and hands over the reins

Following the event, Water and Wastes Digest will provide you with a session recording and registration and attendance details.

It's never been easier to stay connected with your key customers and prospects.
